Making Commitments to Textile Exchange Standards

About Textile Exchange Standards

Textile Exchange Standards work to support the integrity of product claims by providing verification from an independent third-party. All our standards have been developed through a multi-stakeholder approach to address gaps in current industry standards.

About this Guide

This guide has been developed to provide practical support for organizations wishing to make commitments to one or more Textile Exchange Standard.

It provides guidance and instruction on making public commitments, registering claims, in addition to communicating about and reporting progress toward those goals.
What is a Standards Commitment?

A commitment is made by a company that is working towards sourcing certified materials, and or building a supply chain that is certified to Textile Exchange Standard(s).

Companies making commitments to one or more Standard are responsible for outlining clear goals and timelines for achieving them, with accountability to Textile Exchange through annual reporting on progress.

In many cases, committed companies are not at the point in their sourcing programs where they can buy and sell fully certified products and therefore do not yet qualify to make an assured product-related claim. Therefore, they through registering a commitment to a Standard, they may make other claims about the work they are doing.

Communicating about Commitments

When an organization makes a formal commitment to a Standard, they are encouraged to share this publicly with their community and the industry at large. This is considered a Commitment Claim.

You can find more information about making commitment claims and other statements about Textile Exchange Standards in our Standards Claims Policy.
So, you want to make a commitment to a Textile Exchange Standard? Great! Below are the steps to making commitments and how you can start talking about it with your community and work towards your goal.

1. Make a Commitment & Set Targets
2. Register your Commitment
3. Share your Commitment
4. Report Progress Updates
1 Make a Commitment & Set Targets

Work with all of your internal and external stakeholders and make a firm commitment to the relevant Textile Exchange Standard(s).

Some of the benefits of making a commitment are:

- Having internal buy-in from all parts of your organization.
- Having a public commitment for where you are going will give you a level of defense against any activism.
- Your supply chain will be better able to meet your needs when they clearly understand your expectations and are part of setting realistic timelines.

TIP: Internal buy-in is a key factor to success. Educate your colleagues about the standard: use the tools available on our website, attend webinars or training events, or ask Textile Exchange for support.
Make a Commitment & Set Targets

Your targets should be:

Realistic
Take into account the lead times to get earlier parts of the supply chain certified, and for certified material to move through the supply chain. Some fibers and materials have naturally longer supply chains.

Relevant
Demonstrate how certified materials connect to the broader sustainability targets of your company. This connects back to the considerations of “why” you are making these goals.

Meaningful
Volume is how you can drive change in the industry and demonstrate to both producers and consumers that you are serious about sustainability and responsible production.

TIP: Unless you are only using very small volumes, it will take time to convert all your products to certified. Therefore, it’s a good idea to set a timeline for reaching your conversion target, e.g. 25% in year 1, 50% in year 2, 75% in year 3, and 100% in year 4.
Now that you’ve decided on making commitment, and you’ve set your targets and expectations, let’s talk about what a commitment actually looks like.

The Essential Elements of a Commitment:

1. Your Company's target (%) and for which standard

2. Target Year – when do you plan to achieve this goal?

3. Base Year – if you’re already on the path, when did you start working towards this goal?

4. Commitment Type – is your commitment related to:

a) Sourcing certified materials/products?  “Brand ABC commits to source 100% of our down from RDS certified sources by 2023.”

b) Getting your supply chain certified?  “We are committed to achieving OCS certification at 75% of our garment manufacturers by 2025.”
